

Austin Lee: Mixed Feelings

TIME OUT SAYS

The young American artist presents his cartoonish-styled paintings for his first London show

The American artist presents new paintings for his first London solo show. Having graduated from the prestigious Yale MFA in 2013, the New York-based painter's distinctly cartoonish style is vibrant and humourously abrasive in its depiction of personal moments.